Android™ & Applications

Why do I have apps showing in another language in the Google Play™ store?

If the language set on your device is English, most of apps in the Google Play™ store will be in English.

To change the device's language, go to Settings (or) > Language & input and check Language. Select to modify it if necessary.

An app can be in a different language to the language on your device. It means that the developer didn't translate it in English.
