

First things to know

Android™ touch screen gestures

The Touchscreen of your device can be even more intuitive than a computer mouse by using certain types of touch gesture. Below are some examples of touch gestures.

- To select or deactivate an item, touch it once. e.g. to launch an application.
- To move an item to a new location, tap and hold the item then then drag it to the desired location before letting go.
- To scroll the screen, do a quick motion with your finger in the desired direction. For instance, swipe from bottom to top to scroll to the bottom.
- To zoom, double tap quickly the screen. Repeat the operation to zoom out. It doesn't work in every applications.
- To zoom more precisely, splay two fingers on your screen to zoom in. or pinch them together to zoom out. It doesn't work in every application.

Unique solution ID: #1471

Author: Admin FAQ

Last update: 2014-11-14 15:55